DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

1. Claims 23-25 and 32-34 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by US 2003/0149484 to Michelson (cited by applicant; hereinafter “Michelson”).

a. Concerning claim 23: Michelson discloses handle (232), stem (202), and head part (300) including excavation element (embodied by 320 with 332) and actuating device (embodied by 224 with 230). Michelson discloses excavating element retracted into the head part (see Fig. 7) and protruding from the head part (see Fig. 9). Michelson discloses pairs of cutting fins (embodied by multiple elements 332) arranged opposite one another (see Fig. 7 and 9; embodied by being on opposite sides of 320); the cutting fins of each pair have different heights relative to one another (the heights taken from the longitudinal center of head as seen Fig. 8; follows from the head being angled).

b. Concerning claims 24, 25, and 32-34: The excavating element of Michelson can be considered a cutter disc with offset fins; and the actuating device has a shaft 224 and rotary drive coupling 230.

Art Unit: 3775

c. With regard to statements of intended use and other functional statements, they do not impose any structural limitations on the claims distinguishable over Michelson which is capable of being used as claimed if one so desires to do so. In re Casey, 152 USPQ 235 (CCPA 1967) and In re Otto, 136 USPQ 458, 459 (CCPA 1963). Furthermore, the law of anticipation does not require that the reference “teach” what the subject patent teaches, but rather it is only necessary that the claims under attack “read on” something in the reference. Kalman v. Kimberly Clark Corp., 218 USPQ 781 (CCPA 1983). Furthermore, the manner in which a device is intended to be employed does not differentiate the claimed apparatus from prior art apparatus satisfying the claimed structural limitations. Ex parte Masham, 2 USPQ2d 1647 (1987).

Response to Arguments

2. Applicant's arguments filed 17 February 2009 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicant asserts that the amended claim language defines over the prior art reference. The examiner respectfully disagrees. Michelson discloses a separate embodiment of the head (see Fig. 7-9) that includes fins that can be considered at different heights do to the angled nature of the head (see specifically Fig. 8).

Conclusion

3. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
